

NATIONAL POVERTY CENTER

Gerald R. Ford School of Public Policy, University of Michigan

National Poverty Center
Fall 2003 Seminar Series

October 7th, 3:30-5pm, Schorling Auditorium, School of Education

Daniel Weinberg, U.S. Bureau of the Census, with comments by Becky Blank and Sheldon Danziger
The New Annual Poverty Estimates: What's Behind the Numbers?

October 16th, 4-5:30pm, Wyly Hall, Room 1731

Angus Deaton, Woodrow Wilson School, Princeton University
Measuring Poverty in a Growing World (or Measuring Growth in a Poor World).
Co-sponsored with the William Davidson Institute & the Department of Economics
Labor Seminar

October 23rd, 9am-4pm, 6050 ISR

Workshop on Uses of the PSID to Study Health-Related Issues.
Co-sponsored with the Panel Study of Income Dynamics

October 29th, 4:00-5:30pm, 6050 ISR

Marta Tienda, Princeton University with comments by Pat Gurin, University of Michigan
Affirmative Action and Its Discontents: Lessons from the Texas Top Ten Percent Plan

October 30th, 3:30 – 5:00pm, Ford School Huron Street Annex, 1015 E. Huron

Larry M. Bartels, Department of Politics and Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, Princeton University
Homer Gets a Tax Cut: Inequality and Public Policy in the American Mind

November 10th, 12-1pm, 6050 ISR

Pamela Smock and Kristin Seefeldt, University of Michigan
Marriage on the Public Policy Agenda:
What Do Policymakers Need to Know From Research?
Co-sponsored with the Population Studies Center

December 11th, 4:00-6:00pm, Location TBA

Michael Katz, University of Pennsylvania

The New African American Inequality

Co-sponsored with the Michigan Colloquium on Race and Twentieth-Century
American Political Development